PRESENTS

Founders Day celebration to spotlight concert tradition

Friday, September 13, 2013
7 p.m. - City Hall

In September, we'll be back at city hall celebrating the "founding" of West Bountiful. For this year's concert, the Arts Council will be "looking back" and have invited many past performers to take the stage. They will help celebrate the founding of West Bountiful and our run of second Friday, free concerts. During the past seven years, these concerts have featured those who live in West Bountiful or have ties to West Bountiful. As has become a tradition at our Founders Day concerts, the performances will be narrated by poetic stanzas intertwined with West Bountiful history. As usual, the stanzas are written by Eric Eastman, our poet extraordinaire. You won't want to miss this special concert and the pictorial gallery display of past performances.

Cowboy Poets to perform

Friday, October 11, 2013
7 p.m. - City Hall

This year, October's concert will again put the spotlight on cowboy poetry. Several of our own West Bountiful cowboy poets will take the stage presenting their own poetry along with the works of other famous poets like Robert Service and his "Cremation of Sam MaGee". True to cowboy poetry style, the program will include the spoken word and works which chronicle life in the West. We are certain you won't want to miss this one. It is free with great parking and will include some heartrending, maybe even some foot-stomping country western music by Jay Burton and his "Blue Mountain" group.

Ward family to entertain

Friday, November 8, 2013
7 p.m. - City Hall

November's concert will feature Ray and Isabel Ward's talented family. Their children and grandchildren will perform a delightful mixture of piano, flute, and piccolo solos, and wonderful singing in groups, duets, and solos. Here are a few highlights:

Natalie and Jared Haddock (pictured left) have sung in traveling Broadway productions, at Tuacahn, and in cruise ship shows. Yvonne Ward is in the Utah Youth Symphony and plays flute and piccolo like a house afire! Andrew Ward (pictured right) sings with the voice of an angel and will amaze and entertain you. Grandpa Ward will keep you laughing between musical numbers. Come enjoy a wonderful evening!
