

Ever wonder what the inside of your sewing machine looks like?

Take a Gander!

This is a new machine that was used on average
2 Hours/Week over 16 months.

The truth is all sewing machines make a lot of lint. With each stitch the needle cuts micro small bits of cloth and thread. Over time these cuttings make up a felt like matter that can clog up you machine. That's why Viking recommends that you have your machine serviced at least annually.
