Join Elaine as we sew this beginner friendly, lightweight, mid-sized crossbody bag.

The Zuri Crossbody Bag measures 11"H (at the widest point) x 11"H (overall) x 3"D(Bottom). It measures 9-3/4""H from the curved center. There is one pocket at the front with a snap closure and two pockets in the back, serving as the main compartment of the bag.

We will be using quilting weight fabric only, so this class is domestic sewing machine friendly.

Pre-class Preparation:

1. Print the pattern pieces at 100% (Actual) size and tape together as directed in the pattern directions. Cut out the pattern piece labels to attach to your pieces once they have been cut.

2. For the Crossbody Strap, cut piece "L" - 4" W x 28" H x 2 out of Contrasting fabric
3. For the Crossbody Strap "L" Interfacing - 4" x 27" x 2 out of woven interfacing
4. Fuse the woven interfacing to the exterior fabric, the remaining contrasting fabric and the lining fabric.
Note: you can cut the interfacing separately from the fabric, however I prefer to "block fuse" the interfacing as it is quicker and you will create cleaner edges.
5. Cut out all the pattern pieces out of the appropriate fabric as outlined on page 31 of the pattern and attach the appropriate label.

☒ If there is enough demand, I can put together a kit that will contain the interfacing, fleece, zippers and hardware required for the bag. When you sign up for the class, please indicate if you would like a kit. I will be purchasing hardware in gunmetal grey and black zipper as in the sample at the store. Kits will need to be ordered in advance to allow for time for me to purchase and receive all of the product. Kit fee is TBD.
