

Robin Troxell was born and raised in Brigham City, Utah. Many of her siblings families, her mother, children and grandchildren live in Brigham City.

Robin graduated from Box Elder High School and continued her education in the medical field by obtaining her license as a Medical Assistant immediately upon graduation.

She has worked at Brigham City Hospital, Pioneer nursing home and various physicians offices in the area.

Robin then attended Weber State University and obtained her Emergency Medical Technician certification and a degree in Gerontology.

She continued her career in the field and has 10 plus years experience in Health Administration and State, Federal and private grant writing.

Has training in Community development and planning.

Was a member of numerous state and local committees. Serving as Chair of the Utah Indian Health Advisory Board for 6 years.

Robin comes from a family that has always been involved with the community and wants to continue with the great things that Brigham City has to offer its diverse residents.

"My experience in budgeting, planning and coordination with local, state and federal entities gives me the right kind of knowledge that goes into being a Council Member. I love the many different kinds of people we have here and hope to be thoughtful, transparent and inclusive of the needs of Brigham City. I want my children and grandchildren to love their community and want your families to love it also."
