Letter from the Chief of Police & Council Member Watkins

Like a good BBQ or insurance - some investments are just worth it! As we take a moment to slow down or sit down with our children, friends, or grandchildren take time to talk about highway and road safety, so we can avoid stressful or traumatic incidences. Construction along Highway 89 through Perry (and soon Willard), rain, special events, and of course snow require drivers to slow down. The following three points give strong suggestions of when it is time to slow down and also educate others....

1. Rows of cones and construction work along Highway 89 require leaving for a destination a little earlier, alert eyes, and slowing down. Please do not make a U-turn where it is not allowed or advisable. The extra driving may not be convenient, but the results from this construction work and the increased safety are. Please consider cars who are driving behind you and leave a comfortable space between you and the vehicle in front of you. Be extra aware of construction workers, other pedestrians, and rows of cones - the smart phone can and should always wait until the vehicle is turned off. We must operate our vehicles with an attitude of safety. We need to be alert of our surroundings, for the safety of ourselves and those who share the roadway with us.
2. Young people often get a drivers permit or license during one season, but always need to be reminded (as do we) that rain, snow, or special events (such as celebrations, peach season, or bike tours) require us to slow down significantly and be alert for those who may not be watching.
3. We must teach those who may consider crossing Highway 89 that patience can save lives. If a vehicle becomes a 'good Samaritan' and stops in the middle of the highway, those who cross must remember that another lane continues to have right-of-way and may not see you. With speeds ranging from 45 to 55 mph, we would do well to be more cautious or take a different mode of transport to get across. Overpasses and underpasses are convenient for only one part of the population and very expensive. Reduced speeds may reduce some problems but present others. At-grade crossings may appear in the future, but our voices, our education, and our clear expectations can save lives.

Thank you for your diligence in driving and spreading the word of safety along to your family, neighbors and friends. We look forward to educated communities, alert drivers, and safer roads - three goals in which we can all make a significant difference! Together we can keep the roads in our city safe!
