Thank you to all who have been in to visit and support us over the past six months. It has been an amazing whirlwind and we appreciate each and every one of you who have stopped to sew, shop, or say hi. As winter comes and the days get shorter, we have decided to initiate winter hours and close at 5 pm on Thursday like we do every other day of the week. We have found we rarely have customers during this time, and we can better serve you in other ways. If you find you need something after hours you can always search our website and choose in-store or curbside pickup for the next day and we will have it ready for you! We hope you have a safe, warm winter and wish you many cozy hours in your sewing studios.

Happy Stitching,
