Ballard moved to approve a five-minute executive session to discuss legal matters regarding road issues posed at the meeting. Fox seconded. Motion carried 5-0. Meeting reconvened at 9:35 a.m. No decisions were made.

Bloodborne pathogen protocol will be sent to department heads as it is being considered for addition to the county policy and procedure manual.

Health Department Director Vicki Lindsey addressed new guidelines regarding COVID-19 protocol. Once a person tests positive, they are to stay home for five days; on the sixth day, a person can return to work provided there are no lingering symptoms and that person wears a mask through day ten. A consensus was met regarding the testing policies; a person cannot rely on a home test alone; they must seek a test from the Health Department or elsewhere. Several other potential policies were discussed. The commission made the decision to allow department heads the ability to decide whether or not employees are required to wear masks inside their respective offices after exposure.

Spradlin moved to approve a new policy; to be eligible to receive COVID pay, an employee must not rely on an 'at-home' test, said employee must be tested by their physician, Health Department or hospital. Ballard seconded. Motion carried 5-0.

C.A. Floyd attended the meeting to discuss the on-going road dispute near 40th Road. Floyd proposed that an agreement is made that the road be closed and if Rader were to need access, simply call Floyd and he will always be granted access. Hodge spoke in favor of closing the road and coming to a conclusion. Rader feels justified in having his side of the road closed but expressed opposition in Floyd closing their side of the road, as Rader does not feel he should need to ask permission to enter the gates in question. Floyd recommended that if their side of the road is earmarked as open, Rader's side of the road should be considered open as well. County Counselor Paul Dean stated that he will draft an agreement for both parties to sign. Ballard informed Floyd that he could shut his gates at this point, as Rader is finished haying for the year, to afford Floyd access to the pasture in question. In the meantime, the commission recommended Floyd and Rader speak with one another to come to a solution in the matter. Hodge informed fellow commissioners that he still holds opposition to leaving the road open.

Nancy Kirkham with Bachelor Township addressed the commission regarding splitting costs with other townships for major repairs. Kirkham stated that Bachelor township paid for repairs and sent a letter to Eureka township informing them of their share of the costs; Eureka township responded with a refusal to pay said costs. Kirkham was directed to file suit. Ballard recommended that a commissioner call Eureka township and inform them that they need to pay their share of the repairs made.
Emergency Management Director Levi Vinson informed commissioners that FEMA is in the process of doing flood plain mapping for Greenwood County.
