June News

6/1/16

Jeri's Column

So I'm back from Spring Market and what a whirlwind that was! Totally overwhelming, but a lot of fun! Saw lots of new trends, new fabrics and new gadgets. Found some new companies for Batiks and I'm excited about that! Fashion is coming back and there are some awesome rayon Batiks out there...just have to decide which ones I want!

I picked up some cute cards that will make great gifts for friends so check them out next time you are in! I also got some very nice scissor fobs and they too will make great gifts, for yourself or for special friends. They are not in yet, but should be here soon.

I can't believe that June is here already; where o' where has this year gone? June is the month that we start

Featured Class

Color Sense with Annie Smith

Annie Smith is a pattern designer, quilt instructor, has been published in Quilter's Home Magazine, has won Best of Show at the California State Fair for Crazy Quilting and has published her own book on Applique. This is the 1st time we have had Annie teach at Blue Iris although she did teach at the North State Quilt Jamboree in 2015.
