March: Susie Carter and her sister

April: Stay-cation?

May: Young Artist

June: summer off

July: Independence Day celebration

August: Arts Council dinner

September: Maloy family

*Young Artists were scheduled for April. There was some discussion about the completion date of the new school so the Young Artists concert could be held there. So far it is estimated for April 13. The school wondered about having the program April 24. Since there isn't any guarantee that it will be finished by the 13th or even the 24th the arts council decided to do the Young Artist program in May in the city hall as it has been in the past.

AnJanette suggested an evening with piano duets for a future concert.

James: City Council didn't care for the Christmas banners. Should more, different banners be purchased? More of the same in different colors?

Could they be placed further apart? The Arts Council likes the banners. Maybe they could be placed further apart.

Lucile: The Bowery and trees at the city park would look nice with lights for Christmas. The Arts Council will give it some thought.

Independence Day

Debbie will do a letter to residents about the change in the parade route. The parade route will be Pages Lane to 600 West rather than 800 West which will be under construction.

Lucile: The games at the park are in good condition and very little will need to be done for this Independence Day.

*Emily would like to get 1 more tent and one of the games will need to be re-made because of vandalism.

*Someone is needed to man the command center for volunteer check-in, lost and found, lost child and first aid. Emily asked if AnJanette will help trade off with that

*There was some discussion about changing the food truck location to the south side of the bowery. Their lights may detract from the fireworks.

*It was suggested getting a pizza food truck. Debbie has some numbers for some and will look into it. Debbie has some ideas on a pizza fund raiser as well.

*We may not have the use of a trailer for the band.

*Arts Council will need to decide what the pre-show for the 4th will be. Susie Carter was suggested.

Action taken: Emily will need to decide how much money is needed for the games at the park this year.

Once Around

Lucile: The newsletter editor is moving to Hyde Park but will continue to do the newsletter.

Eric moved to adjourn. Debbie seconded.
