

My name is Jessica Gertsch and I am running for West Bountiful City Council. Here is just a little bit about me:

I have lived in Davis County since I married my husband almost 10 years ago. Prior to moving to West Bountiful, we lived in Woods Cross where I had the privilege of serving on the City Council. I served on the Woods Cross City Council for two years before we found our lovely house in West Bountiful and I had to leave that position. I LOVE city politics. I loved politics so much that I majored in Political Science when I went to Utah State University. I have been involved in city government ever since I was a teenager. As a teenager I served on my city's Youth Court and was a Youth Ambassador for the city. While in college I completed two internships at the State Capitol. I served on my city's celebration committee after college for two years before moving. I have always tried to stay active in every city I have lived in. I love living in West Bountiful. On the city seal it says, Strength, Unity, Family; that perfectly reflects all the things I think are important to me as well as any city live in.

You can follow me by liking my facebook page, it is also a wonderful place to ask me questions. Search for Gertsch For City Council or click on this link:
