August 2013

I know many of you are excited that school has started again. That means there will be more time to sew and visit your favorite fabric shops.

Of course, it also means the holidays will be sneaking up on us before we know it too. Some of mine are shown on the left.

August has been a busy month here. I made two baby quilts this month and got the pattern up of my website. I did a girl version and one that could be for either a boy or girl. My niece is expecting a little girl is due any day. A good friend is expecting a boy in November, so I am actually a little ahead with this one.

If you haven't been to the website lately, there have been a lot of additions.

I have now started adding fabric. I will never have the selection your quilt shop will. I still will be supporting my local quilt shops. I just wanted to be able to offer good quality fabrics that work well with my patterns. I know some of you may not have a quilt shop close to you., so this will help. I will have more fabric coming in next month. So check back often.

Besides fabric, I have added some fun decals. I am actually expecting some new ones today. Show the world you're a quilter!

What's New!

Stars and Stripes -
A Jelly Roll Pattern

It's a Hoot

I recently added two new patterns. The first is Stars and Stripes. It is a quick and easy Jelly Roll pattern.

The second is It's a Hoot. Owls are so popular right now with new moms. I decided to do something with them. Lots of appliqué, but so worth it. Mine turned out really cute. See the girl version on my website.

Happy Quilting!

What's Happening?

I already know September will be busy. I have a lot going on right now. I have a wedding quilt to do for another niece who is getting married at the end of October.

I have some more fabric coming in too. There is one fabric call Midwinter Reds. It is gorgeous!!! You will love it. It would be a perfect fabric for one of my French Braid patterns. Or anything else for that matter. It should be here soon!

The middle of September, I am taking a couple of days to go to a retreat with friends. Not to worry, you can get a hold of me. I take my netbook everywhere with me. Good friends, good food, and lots of laughter! Priceless!

Speaking of friends, we lost a special friend, quilter, and bunko buddy a couple of weeks ago. Ona was a very special woman. She was only 66, but had some health issues the last couple of years. Still her death was unexpected. Ona's piecing was as close to perfect as I have seen. Every point always came together perfectly. We all admired her ability to make such beautiful quilts. You see, Ona had arthritis and her hands were completely crippled by the disease. It was amazing to watch her. Her determination was admired by everyone. Nothing was going to stop her and no matter what, she always had a smile on her face. We will miss her.

Ok, let's change the subject, some of the fabric I have added is on the right!
