September 2013

Fall is here! Even here in Texas. Oh course, the leaves won't be changing for awhile yet. It just means it not 100 degrees anymore.

The other day I was thinking about the seasons and the colors of fall.

I have to say I am not a fan of orange. I have very little orange fabric in my stash. Yes, I've made a few designs using orange fabric, but I had to go buy it before doing the samples.

So, I guess you can figure out which season is my least favorite. If I lived somewhere where the colors of fall were truly beautiful, I might actually feel different. The fall colors here tend to be a little disappointing though.

Oh course, the thing I dread the most is my humming birds leave by the first or second week in October. :(

What about Winter? I don't like the cold, but I love Christmas. I love pictures of snow. But hope it stays away from here. I do love the blues, reds, greens, and other colors of Winter.

Spring is my favorite time of the year. I love the colors of spring. They are so vibrant. I feel alive then! My hummers come back April 1st! :)

I actually like summer too. I will wear a sweat-shirt until it is 80 degrees outside. (Yes, I'm cold natured) I love the colors then too.

What about you? Do your favorite colors reflect your favorite seasons.

What about colors you don't like?

Just something to think about.

Are you ready for the holidays?

Try these great holiday patterns!

What's Happening?

September has been busy. I have a lot going on right now. There have been a lot of ups and downs here. My husband lost his job so the belt has been tightened. I know lots of other people are going through this or have in the past. Prayer and friends are what keep us going.

I have added more fabric this month. There is one fabric call Mid-winter Reds. It is gorgeous!!! You will love it. It would be a perfect fabric for one of my French Braid patterns. Or anything else for that matter.

I have also added a line of Batiks called French Lace II. If you love batiks, I hope you will check them out.

If you have not been on my website lately, I also added Wonder Clips. Have you tried them? I love them! They are great. I use them when putting the binding on a quilt. They work better for me than trying to use pins which stick me or binding clips which area pain to use. They are like mini clothes pins. Check out the video on my website.

I am just starting another wall hanging pattern. It is a Christmas holiday pattern. I hope to have it done next week.

One thing about me you probably don't know, is I am a huge baseball fan. As I am writing this, my Texas Rangers are losing the tiebreaker game. Oh well, I'm a diehard fan, see you in April guys. If your team is still playing, good luck!

What kind of projects do you have lined up? Whatever they are, I hope they turn out perfect. Have a great month.

If you ever have a question, please feel free to email me. I love hearing from you.

Happy Quilting!

Sharon
