

Prairie Thunder Pattern Corrections

This pattern was written in the order of construction. Please read through the pattern before cutting.

Label all pieces as you cut and set aside until needed. We found the Delectable

Mountain borders are easier to piece together if you lay them out as they will be sewn next to your machine and piecing them in order.

On Prairie Thunder Cutting Chart Sheet & all references to Raven

- Under the cutting instructions for Raven it should read as follows – “With selvage edges together, from 885-494 Raven....”

On Page 1 instructions at top of page:

- Please note that instructions state that all borders are cut length of fabric. Please cut your borders first, but do not trim to size until they will be sewn to the quilt body. This is because everyone sews just a little different and the actual size of your quilt center may be a little longer or shorter than what ours was. This way, your borders will fit and you won't trim off too much.
- Measure and cut your borders by laying the required border strip along the quilt center holding it at one edge and smoothing the strip along to the opposite edge. Trim strip even with edge.