

Simple Log Cabin Supply List

Finished Quilt Size: "Varies"

Introduction: Get back to the basics and make a traditional log cabin quilt with Jerry! However, here is the twist... learn to use the "bloc-loc" ruler to make this traditional quilt. Yes! You might have used this brand of ruler to make half-square triangles and maybe even flying-geese, but now is the time to try your hand with this magical ruler on a log cabin. You will love this ruler AND this quilt. Come have some fun and learn something new!!

Fabric Requirements – The amount of each fabric will depend upon the width of each segment in the log cabin blocks. In general, you can assume you need enough fabric for 2-3 strips of each color. For example, if your finished segment width is 2", you will be cutting strips at 2-5/8", so 3 strips would require about 8" (assume 1/4 yard of each). If your finished segment width is 1", assume 1/8 yard of each. If your finished segment width is 3", assume 11 inches or 1/3 yard of each.

- 1/8 yard for block centers
- 16 pieces of assorted dark prints (see above)
- 16 pieces of assorted light prints (see above)
- Binding and Backing will vary
