We will concentrate on individual block construction in class. Five to six blocks can be made into a table runner. Students will make the number of blocks they need for their project. I added borders because I like the look. We will adjust backing and binding fabric requirements if necessary. The pattern suggests using fat quarters, but you can use scraps if you have enough fabric scraps to complete your project. The sample is made using the same background fabric and the same fabrics for the inserts. Each block will require six 2 ½" x 12 ½" strips and five 1" x 18" accent strips.

Participants need to be competent in accurate cutting and sewing of a ¼" seam.

See pattern for fabric requirements. Any questions on fabric selection or requirements call or email me.
