2018 Winner
Veronica Ross

Veronica is working on her B.S. in Fashion and Textile Technology with a minor in Fiber Design at the State University of New York College at Buffalo. A strong advocate for women empowerment, self-improvement, volunteering and humanitarian work, she involves herself in Habitat for Humanity, Villa Maria convent and community service; including Buffalo State College's Dare to Care movement. Veronica's professional interests include introducing underprivileged youth to the artistic side of life. Her goal of traveling the world to experience different fashion cultures and apparel production techniques will come true in May 2018 when she travels to China on a college study tour. This trip will bring a more personal story to tell the youth that don't see themselves outside the four walls they live in. Veronica strives for perfection and is being honored for her accomplishment of accumulating a 4.0 GPA in Fashion and Textile Technology and has goals to graduate with honors.

"I have ambitions to become the best in the fashion textile industry. I understand that this goal does not happen overnight. It takes hard work, experiences, support, and dedication." "Everything is a learning experience to me; whether it is negative or positive there is always something to gain from it."

Creative Sewing Textile Arts Scholarship

Formed in 2016 the Creative Sewing Textile Arts Scholarship is designed to encourage 3rd or 4th year college students to pursue their dreams in the sewing fields of endeavor. We provide $1000 in scholarship money to fund things like senior projects, sample making for new business ideas, or to help defray the high cost of education. We also provide a great quality sewing machine to help the dedicated sewer make great quality projects.
