Hi Statler Owners!

Big news - Gammill released Creative Studio 4.2 this morning. Check the Sibs list, Gammill's Forum, or give us a call if you need password information for downloading this. We will discuss the new features at this Saturday's Sockhop, or you can watch Matt's video or read his document on this.

This Saturday at 10, I'm excited to have you all meet fellow Statler owner and artist Ayn Hanna. Check out her website at www.aynhanna.com to see her work. Ayn uses her Statler in computer and free motion mode in combination with painting, printmaking, eco dyeing and many other mediums to create fascinating art, plus she's one of the funniest (and fun) friends I have!

Stick around after if you'd like to work on Art and Stitch with Natalia. Bring lunch and see what Natalia has been up to with her digitizing, and to practice some digitizing of your own.

As always, bring show and tell and any questions you have about quilting or digitizing. Because we are having a guest speaker, we will not be meeting at Deb's.

Our next meeting is April 12th here (with Art and Stitch after) or April 13th at Deb's. On May 11th, we'll have guest speaker Mary McCauley here with a program about her dimensional quilting. Visit her website at www.maryhmmccauley.com to see her amazing work. Although Mary doesn't work on a longarm, you'll find many possibilities for using your Statler to create some of the vases, vessels, and other fiber art that Mary will inspire you with. If non Statler owners would like to attend, give us a ring. Because this month features a guest, there will be no meeting at Deb's. Mary will be teaching a workshop here June 25 and 26th.

Because of some Gammill commitments and a change in dates of the Rocky Mountain Quilt Festival, we will be changing some other Sockhop dates. I'll give you more information this Sat. and in the next newsletter. Sorry to do this, but some things are just out of my control (imagine that...).

We've had lots of activity with Evernote and the Jukebox Pattern Finders, and appreciate your feedback. I have the actual pattern files we discussed ready to upload and share with you. We'll send another notice about how to access them shortly.

See you Saturday! As always, we appreciate RSVPs!

Thanks a bunch,

Kelly
