Last call on Digital Stitch 2016!

We are a few weeks away from our upcoming Digital Stitch conference! Our quilting conference will be covering topics for beginners as well as those with intermediate skills. We've designed the conference to benefit all sorts of quilters at different levels with different styles.

We have classes that cover:

- Introduction to Creative Studio
- Modern Quilting
- Creative Studio classes for intermediate and advanced quilters
- Create your own sash designs
- Be your own champion at debugging your stitching issues and machine care
- Learn more about modern quilting and current trends
- Business basics for starting a quilting business
- Show quilting
- Social Media Marketing
- Digitizing your own designs

For a full list of classes, schedule and instructors see our website. We will also have a display of quilts here at Jukebox. We're looking forward to seeing you June 15th - 17th!

Service/Maintenance Trips

Regular maintenance is important to keep your machine humming. Here are some upcoming trips, call if you'd need service. Signing up for a planned trip means you share the travel and other expenses with others getting service during that trip, which can save a bunch. Your machines work hard, and doing preventative maintenance means that it will be prepared for your busy times! Limited time slots are available, so call soon.

Sheridan, WY - July 1st and 2nd with additional dates if needed
Grand Junction, Colorado - August 12th and 13th

Our Row by Row 2016!

It's pretty well known that Fort Collins, Colorado is one of the best places to live and the city's heartbeat is Mountain Avenue.

We decided to focus on what makes our town inspirational and designed an entire landscape quilt in which our Row by Row is featured. We have named our new design "Mountain Ave. Magic". We look forward to seeing you in the shop for this free pattern soon!

Wrapping up Row by Row 2015

Speaking of Row by Row, Kelly has just finished digitizing the left border from last year's Row by Row quilt called, "Fort Fiber". This means that all the laser cut kit for this portion will be available for pick-up by June 10th. Feel free to drop in and pick this one up soon!

UPCOMING EVENTS AND CLASSES

Quilt Display at Jukebox Quilts OPEN to the public!

Please feel free to stop in at Jukebox Quilts to see some quilts on display between June 1st - June 17th 2016. We will have ribbons and prize packages for the following categories: Best Statler Edge to Edge Quilting, Best Statler Custom Quilting, Most Innovated Statler Computerized Quilting, Viewer's Choice and Best Free Motion Quilting.

Quilt Program by Quilting Treasures

Open to all! $5 admission fee

7-8:30p.m. Thursday June 16th

Atzlan/Northside Community Center

Join the attendees of the Digital Stitch Conference to see Ken Gamache and Debra Coffman from Quilting Treasures and Ink and Arrow Fabrics give a presentation of the history of Cranston Print Works Company. They'll be discussing the technological textile printing evolution, development of patterns from conception to fabric, and have a Q&A session. They will be showing a video and will have fabric giveaways for the audience. Please share this information with your fellow quilters, this is a great opportunity to learn about the textile industry from the "insiders!"

Visit Quilting Treasures and Ink and Arrow Fabrics.

Circle Game

The new Circle Game class is nearly full! If you're interested in joining in on this class please sign up soon because we don't have many spots left. The whole quilt is laser cut, and this 8 month series (2 hours/mo) teaches you incredible tricks for piecing Y seams, curves, circles, accurate intersections, and every other skill you'll ever need to know. We'll be starting another series Thur. July 14th from 5-7pm. Call us if you'd like to join us!

"Time for Bed", Charlie - Quilt Kits
