

Some of Our Favorite Embroidery Designers

This list has been compiled by the Serendipity Quilting Studio Sew Help M.E. Embroidery Club to provide those who are new to machine embroidery some places to check out! It is in alphabetical order for your convenience. We do not endorse any of these sites, but members of the group have visited and purchased designs from these sites.

If you have any sites you'd like to add to the list, or if you want to share what you've bought from the site and how it stitched out, email them to info@serendipityquiltingstudioinc.com and we'll add them!

Ace Points Embroidery – pointsof.com

Very nice redwork/vintage embroidery designs!

Anita Goodesign – anitagoode.com

Probably one of the better-known designers of embroidery, sold in a lot of stores, but you can also order online. Very detailed workmanship. They offer “clubs” where you get designs every month. They are known for their mix and match quilt blocks that will allow you to put the quilt together in numerous different ways.

Designs by JuJu – designsbyjuju.com

Lots of designs for kids and some really cute fonts. They routinely have sales for 20 designs for 22 dollars – so you can get designs for about $1 each during these sales. This is the place to go if you are stitching for babies/toddlers.

Embroidery Designs – embroiderydesigns.com

Large selection of individual and packaged designs.

Embroidery Library – emlibrary.com

Large selection of individual and packaged designs.

Hatched in Africa – hatchedinafrica.com

Lots of nice designs – even a page of free designs! Check out their large designs, especially Tiffany in Stitches. The details in their designs are amazing.

John Deer's Embroidery Legacy – ultimatestash.com

John Deer's family history in commercial embroidery is very interesting – you can watch his legacy videos on you tube and see how commercial embroidery was done years ago. His vintage lace designs are based off patterns his family produced from the 1930s to 1940s. He is probably one of the best know salesmen of embroidery as he teaches around the world at quilt shows and stores.

Molly Mine – mollymine.com

Very nice designs – especially their crazy quilts. Serendipity will be doing a Block of the Month Embroidery Quilt based on their Crazy Quilt Series 4 design!

Oregon Patchworks – oregonpatchworks.com

San Francisco Stitch Company – sanfranciscostitchco.com

Check out their current Monthly Mug Rug offering for 2019! Cross stitch themed monthly mug rugs that are adorable. Collect all 12 over the year. Would go well with a Welcome Mug Rug Wall Hanging.

Stitch Delight – stitchdelight.net

Cute designs, some great quilting designs. Sign up for their daily newsletter and receive one free letter of a font...in 26 days you have a whole new font set.

Sweet Pea Designs: swpea.com

Australian designers producing very unique designs. Watch for their monthly challenges where you purchase and stitch out their design. Take a picture, post it to their facebook page to enter the contest. Prizes include winning designs, discounts, etc. Prizes aren't large but it is fun to see what different things people do with the designs.

Urban Threads – urbanthreads.com

Tami's personal favorite – more modern designs, nice use of colors and threads. Check out their painterly designs – stitch outlines and then use fabric inks to fill in the color. Embroidered coloring books!
