SEWING OF CALENDAR: Seam allowance is 1/4" (0,75 cm).

This calendar is in one piece, see image.
If you want it to have 24 small pockets, the panel must be folded and sewn four times.
So nothing must be cut.

At the left and right edges for each grid square you'll find two small metallic lines and text telling you to fold here, see image.

Start with the bottom row of pockets:
Fold at the bottom lines across the width of the panel.

Sew a stitching above the grid line, see image.

NOTE: This seam will be placed at the top lines for folding.

After sewing fold back the seam and the first row of pockets come forward, see image.

Next fold the second row of pockets and do the same, see images.

Backside
of panel

Sew the rest of the pocket rows like above and fold back the pockets. See images.

Now pin the pockets at each side and sew a stitching from under the big gnome motif to the bottom between all rows, see image.

After sewing of these stitchings the 24 pockets come forward.

Now join the strips in fabric B on each side of the calendar (B1) and next join the strips at the top and the bottom (B2).
