

It's May

I can't believe it's already May. We are coming up on the one year mark as the owners of Webfabrics. Time flies when you are having fun, and we have a lot of fun at Webfabrics. We love to meet customers virtually and in person. We hope you feel the happiness and fun when you walk in our doors.

We had a great 5th Saturday event today, although, it's technically the first Saturday. We appreciate you for understanding about us moving the date.

We are still unpacking from the shows. We have a lot of quilt kits, panels, and one yard cuts available; If you are looking for a quick project, these are perfect for you.

One of the most popular quilts at our last shows was the Fairy Garden Quilt from Art Gallery Fabrics. Meagan made this quilt using a free Art Gallery pattern and a variety of Art Gallery prints and blenders. We have kits available if you are interested in picking one up. This quilt finishes at 72" x 72". To make cutting all the strips easier, she used a stripology ruler which we have in the store. If you haven't tried one yet. Check them out at the link below. This is Meagan's second quilt and she did an amazing job; I'm so proud of her. At the Greenville show a few ladies were admiring it and a white glover came and asked if they wanted to see the back. We got a good chuckle out of that one.

Kinetic Quilt with Linda Cooper

Three Dimensional Quilts

Linda is an award winning art quilter who has been quilting for over 30 years. Join us, Saturday May 20th, as she shares some of her quilts and discusses her techniques for 3D projects and hand painted fabric. Come see her trunk show and learn the secrets of making Linda's unique two-sided, mobil-like art quilts. Using a Tintex-like batting, it's possible to cut out shapes, create small mini-quilts and then reinsert them, with fishing lure swivels, so they rotate when the quilt is suspended.

Register online to save your seat for this fascinating program. Linda will be teaching a class this summer using her techniques. Come check her out.
