World's First 3D-Printed House Made of Local Raw Earth And it Closes the Roof With a Dome

"Inspired by the potter wasp, an Italian architecture firm has used 3D printing to make the domed, beehive-like structure of a house out of zero-emissions clay in the hope of showing what heights of sustainability can be reached with the technology.

Let's Play Heart's Table Runner

Thursday, February 3
1:30 pm to 4:30 pm

Shoot the moon with a winning hand of hearts. With 5 fat eighths, make a "pair of hearts" from each print. Three fat quarters will yield "four of a kind" from each print. To make each heart different, deal 10 - 10" squares to each player. No need to avoid the black queen, we're playing with just hearts.
