These 8 tips will help reduce holiday cooking stress

From the Optimist Daily:

Spice up your holiday cooking with these eight helpful and stress-reducing tips and savor the true joy of the season: making merry memories with those you cherish most.

Smart store-bought swaps

Professionals and home cooks alike agree on a simple principle to making holiday meals easier: there's no shame in using store-bought goods. As Emilie Berner, chef-instructor of online plant-based culinary arts and food operations at the Institute of Culinary Education, says: "Pick and choose your battles." Instead of aiming for a completely homemade buffet, concentrate on the highlights.

Roya Shariat, a Brooklyn-based cook, stresses that guests savor the exciting parts of a meal, not necessarily the basics. Get the exciting parts down first, like a delicious pie filling, and then go to the store for the crust. Allowing for some store-bought components, like as boxed stuffing and pre-cut vegetables, can save time without sacrificing flavor. . .

Inspiration

Good Tidings Pillow

This project comes to us from Janome Maker Milinda Stephenson of Milinda Sews, here's what she has to say:

"Nothing says comfort like plaid flannel. I love recycling leftover fabric. This one is from pajama pants I made for my children when they were little and the wool from a skirt we used as a costume in a production of Our Town. The fabrics went together perfectly for this pillow. The finished product brings me great joy and happy memories.

I digitized the letters using my Digitizer software and embroidered on the Janome Horizon Memory Craft 15000. The lettering download is free and sized for the MC15000's 9" x 9" hoop. It can be used for bags, pillows or pajama shirts. Let your imagination soar!"
