She Turns Old Leather Sofas into Chic $200 Handbags to Cut Down on Waste—And They're Flying Out the Door

From the Good News Network: An Englishwoman is turning old leather sofas into beautiful handbags as a way to save them from the landfill.

Lisa Crick gets the pre-loved couches donated to her for free, and she upcycles the good parts into totes, messenger bags, and luggage in the space of a week.

She tries to use every part of the furniture that she can, even giving away the cushion stuffing for free to people for use as dog beds or to stop window drafts.

"I am passionate about waste and conscious of how much we do waste," said the 53-year-old who calls her business 'New Baginnings'. "When I see people with my bags I get such a sense of pride."

Janome Featured Accessories

Janome Binder Sets & Tape Stand

The Quilt Binder Set is the perfect accessory for quick and trouble-free binding, with a superior design based on industrial binding attachments. The cone on the front of the fabric holder feeds and folds fabric for a ½" finished binding. Two upper screws on the binding allow you to adjust the fold of the fabric - set them at the same length for a straight stitch, or set the bottom a bit further than the top for a blanket stitch.

Plus the Tape Stand holds your roll of tape at a set height. Since the tape is supplied at the same height to the tape guide of the binder set, it feeds smoothly even with very soft fabric allowing beautiful finishes to be achieved.

Give yourself the luck of the Irish. Thanks to Janome.com and Janome Maker, Alba Fekete. Here's what she says:

"This is a fun and festive way to decorate for St. Patrick's Day or to show off your Irish pride! This will easily be completed into a quilt, table runner or a bed scarf. What a fun way to use up all your scraps and small quantities of green fabrics."
