WORLD UFO DAY – JULY 2, 2023

WORLD

For all of us who live in New Mexico this shouldn't come as a surprise. Because this was the day in 1947 when little green men descended on Roswell, NM.

But for those of us of the quilting inclined, it's time to go through all your drawers to search out a different kind of UFO - your unfinished objects and get them done.

Inspiration

DIY Felt Rocket Craft

FELT ROCKET KIDS' SEWING PROJECT

Sugar, Spice & Glitter has the perfect project to bridge the gap between UFO Day, Janome's July's theme of Sewing for Kids and the 4th of July. Here's what Jennifer the creator said about it:

"This super simple felt sewing project uses a free printable template and just some felt and thread to create homemade rocket toys!

These rockets can be used to make finger puppets, ornaments, or even added to a canvas to make a 3D space craft. It's a great way to encourage kids who may be reluctant to learn how to sew, especially if they love science and rockets.

Sewing is such an underrated life skill but it has enormous value. Not only can you fix your clothing and avoid excess waste, but you can learn to make or alter clothing to suit your personal needs or tastes. (How many of us have passed up a nearly perfect shirt because it needed a small alteration, or struggled to find something that fit our needs?)

Plus, it's a great fine motor skill for kids and can be a wonderful meditative activity. "
