This presentation is a fair representation of design and color of each fabric. The final fabrics may have very minimal changes.

The humming of the sewing machine, the repetitive motion of a needle passing between the fibers of cloth, the joy of a fresh rotary blade, the gentle steam of a hot iron, the accomplishment of making something with our own hands, these are the things that bind us together. Sewing is our dessert for the day. We get through our other chores as efficiently as possible in order to cut out just a little time to sew. We dedicate rooms to the craft where we can, if not rooms then drawers and cupboards. We cover every surface with fabric, notions and thread. We create guilds, communities and industries to support or favorite hobby.

HomeMade pays tribute to the thing that drives us to create with our hands. It is about that moment when someone asks you “where did you get that?” and you reply “I made it!”.
