

Indigo Quilt Studio

Sewing Machine Service Technician (Part-Time Contract)

Lincoln, Illinois

Indigo Quilt Studio is a welcoming, creative retail shop offering high-quality sewing and quilting supplies, classes, and longarm quilting services. We're searching for a Sewing Machine Service Technician to repair and service customer machines. This is a part-time, independent contractor position with flexible scheduling and the opportunity to grow alongside our busy, community-focused quilt shop. It's often a great fit for retirees, experienced hobbyists, or mechanically minded individuals looking for flexible part-time work. We want applicants to understand that this is a supplemental income opportunity rather than a full-time career position.

What You'll Do

- Diagnose, repair, and maintain customer sewing and embroidery machines
- Communicate repair recommendations and timelines clearly
- Keep organized records of repairs and parts needed
- Help us provide excellent customer service to our sewing community

What We'll Provide

- A steady stream of customer repair work
- Flexible scheduling
- Access to specialty parts suppliers and manufacturer resources when available

What We're Looking For

- Mechanical aptitude and/or repair experience
- Experience using a sewing machine is helpful, but not required
- Strong problem-solving skills and attention to detail
- Ability to work independently and manage repair timelines
- Your own tools and dedicated work area (Purchase of some specialty tools may be required)

Physical Requirements

- Lifting and carrying machines weighing up to 50 lbs.
- Fine motor skills needed for handling small parts and precision adjustments
- Ability to sit, stand, and work at a repair bench for extended periods

How to Apply

Email heather@indigoquiltstudio.com with the subject line: Application – Your Name.

No phone calls, please!

Please include:

- A brief introduction about you
- A summary of your mechanical and/or sewing experience

  Thanks so much for your interest — we look forward to hearing from you!
